

A close-up photograph of a fossilized trilobite embedded in a light-colored rock matrix. The trilobite's segmented body is clearly visible, showing its characteristic three-lobed structure. A US penny is placed next to the fossil for scale, highlighting its small size. The penny's details, including the word 'LIBERTY' and the year '2000', are visible. The background is dark, making the fossil and coin stand out.

What are fossils?
What can we learn
from fossils?

Line of Learning

What are fossils?
What can we learn
from fossils?

